Methodology Overview

CALEA serves as the premier credentialing association for public safety agencies and provides accreditation services for law enforcement organizations, public safety communication centers, public safety training academies, and campus security agencies. The standards are promulgated by a board of 21 commissioners, representing a full spectrum of public safety leadership. The assessment process includes extensive self-assessment, annual remote web-based assessments, and quadrennial site-based assessments. Additionally candidate agencies are presented to the Commission for final consideration and credentialing.

CALEA Accreditation is a voluntary process and participating public safety agencies, by involvement, have demonstrated a commitment to professionalism. The program is intended to enhance organization service capacities and effectiveness, serve as a tool for policy decisions and management, promote transparency and community trust, and establish a platform for continuous review.

CALEA Accreditation is the Gold Standard for Public Safety Agencies and represents a commitment to excellence.

COMMUNITY PROFILE

The Creek and Cherokee Indians populated the land first known as Rockdale County. In 1816, state authorities officially opened the area to white settlers. John Holcomb, one of the first settlers and a black- smith by trade, owned a log cabin where the old courthouse stands. Mr. Holcomb opposed the railroad building through his land and sold his property to Dr. William D. Conyers for $700. Dr. Conyers, a Covington banker, in turn, deeded the land to the Georgia Railroad. In honor of his generosity, they named the little watering station "Conyers Station". The first trains began passing through in 1845, and in 1860, the railroad officially listed Conyers as a stop along the 171-mile Augusta-Atlanta route.

Located just twenty-four miles east of Atlanta, the City of Conyers covers 11.83 square miles and has a population of over seventeen thousand residents. Convers is the only municipality within Rockdale County. That, coupled with the fact that a majority of the businesses and industries are located within the corporate limits, means that the City must plan to provide services to a daytime population well over that of the residential population.

The City of Conyers was founded February 16, 1854. It operates under a Council-Manager form of government. This form of government most closely resembles the private sector with the City Manager serving as the Chief Executive Officer, the Mayor as the Chairman of the Board, and the Council as the Board of Directors.

Under the Council-Manager form of government, citizens elect their representatives - the Mayor and City Council who determine the policy of the City. The City Manager is appointed by the City Council on the basis of executive and administrative qualifications. The City Manager is responsible for administering the Council's policies, advising the Council, and conducting day-to-day operations. In keeping with these responsibilities, the City Manager is responsible for hiring the Directors who run each department.

Teamwork between the Council and Manager is a key element of the Council-Manager form of government. The pooling of political and administrative skills is essential to resolving the many complex issues that face Convers today.

Furthermore, the Council-Manager form of government seeks to enhance the effectiveness of local policy-making and municipal operations by bringing together skilled lawmakers, community representatives, and experts in municipal administration and management.

The creation of the Georgia International Horse Park in the mid-90s made tourism a reality for the community. Operated by the City of Conyers, the Horse Park has grown its events in number and revenues. The Georgia International Horse Park (GIHP) continues to be a prominent tourism attraction in Rockdale County. 173 acres at the GIHP has been designated as a nature preserve, the Big Haynes Creek Nature Center, devoted to the preservation and study of native plants and wildlife.

The Rockdale County Master Gardeners Arboretum is maintained on-site at the GIHP, as well as a miniature railroad built and maintained by the North Georgia Live Steamers, which are both popular attractions.

The Convers Convention & Visitors Bureau actively participates in promoting the Georgia International Horse Park, Cherokee Run Golf Club, and Olde Town Conyers. They work closely with hotels and restaurants to drive tourism in Conyers.

Cherokee Run Golf Club, owned and operated by the City of Conyers & located within the Georgia International Horse Park, was designed by golf legend Arnold Palmer. The destination 18-hole championship 72par course features mini-Verde dwarf Bermuda greens, Zoysia fairways & strategically placed bunkers. For several consecutive years, the course has made the "Top 25 Courses in Georgia" list from Golf Advisor.

Olde Town Conyers is always a popular tourist stop. Visitors enjoy the charm and history of this quaint former railroad town while exploring the many interesting shops, boutiques, and restaurants. Visitors may also happen upon filming for a television series or a movie as Olde Town Conyers and other locations nearby, like the Georgia International Horse Park, have become popular with production companies.

The Conyers Depot, that houses the Conyers Welcome Center, the Lewis Vaughn Botanical Gardens, and the many activities and events held at the Pavilion at the Randal S. Mills City Center Park, attracts old and young alike.

Olde Town Conyers and the Nancy Guinn Memorial Library are the starting point for the Olde Town PATH Trail. The city of Conyers partnered with the PATH Foundation to create a system of multi-use, 10-foot-wide trails. The first section of the Olde Town Conyers PATH Trail opened in May 2011 and stretches nearly 1.7 miles from the Nancy Guinn Memorial Library in Olde Town Conyers to the Rockdale Career Academy.

The second phase of the PATH Trail opened in September 2012. This portion of the trail extends two miles from the Rockdale Career Academy to the Corner Market development on Flat Shoals Road and on to Ebenezer Road and Johnson Park. The newest phase of the PATH Trail officially opened on October 19, 2017 and stretches nearly 1.57 miles from the Nancy Guinn Memorial Library in Olde Town Conyers to Pine Log Park. This $1.7 million section of trail was funded by the PATH Foundation and SPLOST funding. The trail is open from sunrise until sunset and motor vehicle traffic on the trail is prohibited. Pets on the trail are required to be on a leash.

Residents and visitors alike celebrate spring at the annual St. Patrick's Day Parade and the Conyers Cherry Blossom Festival. The Red, White and Boom! event celebrating our country's independence is held July 3 to launch us into summer. Our longest running event, and cooler weather typically makes the Olde Town Fall Festival held each October (for over 40 years) a very popular event. Ice skating and the Conyers Christmas Party and Parade herald the start of the holiday season in Conyers.

AGENCY HISTORY

The City of Conyers, Georgia was established in 1854 when the village it was founded on had grown to 400 residents due to the railroad running by it going from Marthasville (now Atlanta) to Augusta, Georgia. As a growing incorporated town, Conyers would need law and order. As such, the foundation of the Conyers Police Department was born in 1855 when the first City Marshal was hired.

The early years of the Police Department, 1855 to 1905, are a relatively unknown, as hand written minutes from the first organized meetings are worn and largely illegible. Where minutes are recorded the Chief of Police is often referred to by title and surname is omitted. Starting in 1906 our research shows:

- 1906 1911 Thomas Holland Bryans
- 1914 William Browning Parker
- 1923 Levi Thompson Longshore
- 1924 Joseph Floyd Cook (Day Chief of Police)
- 1924 Alonza Franklin Bailey (Night Chief of Police)
- 1924 1928 Joseph Floyd Cook
- 1929 1934 Charles Nix

We have established that Jesse Henry Peek served as Chief of Police in 1935 and 1936 and was likely an employee of the railroad. From 1937 to 1948, the city record shows a day and night marshal instead of a Chief of Police. Rufus Cowan held post in the early 1950's before becoming Rockdale County Coroner. Rufus Cowan's father was Sam Cowan, Sheriff of Rockdale County.

In 1957, Olly Thomas "O.T." Adams, Jr., who had been with the department since 1955, was promoted to the position of Chief of Police which he held until his retirement in 1980. Clarence Roland Vaughn, III, who had been the Chief Deputy of the Rockdale County, Georgia Sheriff's Office, was then hired by the City of Conyers and named as Chief of Police to replace Chief Adams on his retirement. Chief Vaughn served in the position of Chief of Police and also served as Acting City Manager until being named fully to the position of City Manager in 1994.

Upon Chief Vaughn's appointment as City Manager, Deputy Chief of Police Antony "Tony" Joseph Lucas, who had begun his career with the department in 1984 as a patrol officer, was named as Chief of Police for the City of Conyers. Chief Lucas remained in the position of Chief of Police and also held the position of interim City Manager until 2005 when he was named City Manager.

Upon Chief Lucas being appointed as City Manager, Deputy Chief of Police David Cathcart, who had begun his career with the department in 1987 as a patrol officer, was appointed to the position of Chief of Police. Chief Cathcart served in the position until he resigned from the Department in February 2010.

In January 2010, City Manager Lucas hired former Metropolitan Atlanta Rapid Transit Authority and Sandy Springs Chief of Police Ralph Eugene "Gene" Wilson, Jr. as Director of Public Safety for the City of Conyers. Upon the resignation of Chief Cathcart in February 2010, Chief Wilson was appointed to the position of Chief of Police with City Manager Lucas assuming the position of Director of Public Safety in addition to his duties as City Manager. Chief Wilson retired in June 2022.

In July 2022, Deputy Chief of Police R. Scott Freeman, Ph.D. was named as the Chief of Police. Both Chief Freeman and City Manager/Director of Public Safety Lucas still hold those positions today.

We will continue researching our past as we continue to make new history as well.

AGENCY SUCCESSES

The Conyers City Council approved a 10 percent increase in starting pay for police officers which allows the Conyers Police Department to have a competitive hiring salary above many surrounding agencies. This will ensure the police department continues to attract and retain the highest caliber of officers possible.

The police department successfully implemented a Police-Mental Health Collaboration (PMHC) co-responder program to supplement and enhance its current Crisis Intervention Team (CIT) service delivery model for mental health crisis response. The PMHC established a full scope of behavioral health services to residents considered to have behavioral and emotional challenges or drug dependency issues in order to eliminate or limit the need for police officers to respond to those in a mental health crisis. A full-time mental health clinician was brought on board as a part of this initiative. The program has proven so successful that a second clinician will be brought on board in 2022.

The City of Conyers experienced a 9.013 percent decrease in crime in 2021 in the top Group A offenses in the National Incident Based Reporting System (NIBRS) which include homicide, rape, robbery, aggravated assault, burglary, arson, larceny/theft and motor vehicle theft.

The police department K-9 dogs, Briscoe and Wick, received body armor as a result of a generous donation from Vested Interest in K9s, Inc. Vested Interest in K9s, Inc. is a non-profit whose mission is to provide bullet and stabprotective vests and other assistance to dogs of law enforcement and related agencies throughout the country. They have donated more than 4,680 K-9 ballistic vests since the organization began in 2009.

The police department deployed Flock advanced license plate recognition devices throughout the City. Since the deployment of these devices, numerous cases have been solved and criminals caught thanks to the plate readers identifying suspect vehicles by their license numbers.

The police department deployed a gunshot detection system to locate areas where firearms have been discharged. This has allowed a fast police response and for quicker identification of suspects who have illegally discharged firearms in the City of Conyers.

The Conyers Police Department Communications Center completed an upgrade to the Next Generation E-911 system. This system provides web based reports, text to 911, abandoned 911 auto call back and new user interfaces for phone systems along with new hardware and the latest software versions.

A grant in the amount of $61,668 was received by the police department that was used to provide Integrating Communications, Assessment and Tactics (ICAT) training to all sworn officers, 911 Center personnel, sworn probation officers and departmental mental health clinical staff. ICAT is a training program developed by the Police Executive Research Forum (PERF) that provides first responding police officers with the tools, skills, and options officers need to successfully and safely defuse a range of critical incidents. Developed by PERF with input from hundreds of police professionals from across the United States, ICAT takes the essential building blocks of critical thinking, crisis intervention, communications, and tactics and puts them together in an integrated approach to training.

 \cdot Renovations to the buildings in the public safety complex began in 2021. The year ended with the completion of renovations of the Court Services, Crime Scene Investigation and Criminal Investigations Division buildings. The final renovations to the Conyers Police Department headquarters and the Special Operations building were underway as the year ended. The renovation project was completed in Spring 2022.

FUTURE ISSUES FOR AGENCY

Developing and implementing a successful succession plan is an ongoing project for senior staff. As the Department grows, we need to identify and prepare the next generation of talent from within the organization. We are in the process of finding the most meaningful ways to talk to employees about their goals and training needs and have begun scheduling leadership training opportunities with industry professionals. Annual performance appraisals, employee promotional projects and career counseling efforts will have to be consistently re-evaluated for effectiveness.

The Conyers Community is growing at an unpresented rate and housing expansion puts pressure on the Police Department to hire more qualified staff. Beyond the need for Police Officers, we have experienced an increase in demand for administrative services to produce reports, process open records requests, process additional court cases, maintain training records, etc. While uniform patrol remains our priority, support services needs are also coming into focus.

SITE-BASED ASSESSMENT

7/13/2023

Planning and Methodology:

The following site-based assessment report is provided herein, pursuant to the new assessment process reporting requirement, as temporary placement until CIMRS is redesigned to accommodate the information.

Conyers, Georgia Police Department June 25 – 29, 2023 Assessor: Scott A. Cunningham

Observable Standards Review:

This onsite is an advanced re-accreditation onsite for the agency. During the onsite, all applicable observable standards were examined for compliance. The agency was found to be in full compliance with the following applicable accreditation standards and expectations:

41.3.1 Vehicles used in routine/general patrol marked and equipped

45.3.3. If volunteers wear uniforms, the uniforms clearly distinguish them from sworn officers

70.4.1 Prisoner transport vehicles separate driver and prisoner with barrier

70.4.2 Prisoner transport vehicles rear compartment modified

- 73.4.1 Availability and readiness of equipment for court security function
- 73.4.2 Means of external communications in courtrooms
- 73.4.3 Duress alarms in courtrooms
- 81.1.2 Federal Communications License
- 81.2.1 Agency has 24-hour toll-free telephone access for emergencies
- 81.2.2 Continuous 24-hour 2-way radio communication to officers
- 81.2.5 Communications center access to duty rosters/residence
- phone numbers/maps/officer status
- 81.2.8 If local, state, and federal criminal justice information systems exist, the agency participates and/or has access to such

Several notable standard related items were observed. These included a dedicated prisoner transport vehicle with three compartments, monitoring/recording cameras, and detailed policies regarding placement and seat belting to minimize the chance of injury. Although primarily used for court related transport, the vehicle is also available for other transport needs of the agency. Another notable item was the manner in which regular marked patrol vehicles were modified for prisoner transport. This included standard barriers but the rear doors were modified with all door, window, and locking mechanisms removed and areas covered with a hard plastic cover to prevent tampering or injury.

The remaining law enforcement observable standards are not applicable due to agency function.

Summary of Agency Adjustments to Standards Issues:

No standards were identified or requested by the ASM.

Summary Public Access Portal:

The Conyers PD utilized the CALEA Public Access Portal. Relevant information regarding the accreditation process in general and specifically about how to provide comments was posted on the agency's social media sites. The portal was opened April 28 and remained open throughout the onsite assessment. During this time, only one comment was received and it was determined to be regarding a matter outside the jurisdiction of the Conyers PD. The information was relayed to the appropriate jurisdiction for their consideration. Chief Freeman indicated he intended to leave the portal open year around if possible to provide another method for the community to offer comments.

Summary of Overall Agency Processes:

Based on guidance from CALEA Assessment Services Manager Dean, Assessor Cunningham conferred with Chief Freeman and Accreditation Manager Staton, and four areas of interest were identified.

Area of Interest: Pursuits and Crash Analysis

Convers PD has had a documented pursuit policy since at least 2006, which was six years before its initial accreditation. Since then, the agency has revised its policy numerous times based on its own reviews, court decisions, laws, incidents around the country, and changes in professional best practices. The current version of the policy went into effect 11/29/2022 and amended prior versions which were amended in 2017 and 2020. The most recent change was directly due to agency review and experience. This high liability policy is constantly reviewed and adjusted as needed as is evidenced by its frequent enhancements.

The current 12 page policy is very detailed and comprehensive. There are three pages of definitions which provides excellent understanding of common terms and intent. One recent change eliminated "terminate the pursuit" and replaced it with "discontinue the pursuit" which was done to specifically indicate stop police actions. This was to avoid any possible confusion regarding the meaning of agency directions and intent.

The overall policy is very comprehensive and covers all expected aspects. It also includes a specific focus on trying to prevent pursuits; very detailed guidance of when a pursuit is authorized; the use of various intervention techniques; and how reports will be completed, reviewed, and analyzed.

One of the recent changes in the most current revision dealt with how pursuit reports are processed. This change was made so that the report now progresses more quickly through the designated reporting chain and gets to the Office of Professional Standards quicker so a comprehensive review can begin sooner. Pursuits are now reported in one comprehensive report (instead of 3 different forms) in addition to an overall case report.

Another aspect of this area of interest focuses on crashes involving agency vehicles. This is not limited to pursuits, but covers all crashes. The agency has for some time fully investigated all agency involved crashes. Recently the level of crash analysis has been enhanced with more detailed information being captured and examined in agency analytical reports. This enhancement stemmed from an increase in crashes. Pursuits and crashes (pursuit and non-pursuit) were found to have increased slightly and the agency examined the reasons and causes. Much of this minor increase was caused by an increased number of cameras throughout the community which alerted officers to wanted and stolen vehicles being in the community.

The agency uses a variety of data and information to constantly evaluate its relevant policies, practices, equipment, and training. They analyze 'why' officers made the choices they did from the perspective of learning and preventing future undesirable actions and outcomes. The agency is very prevention and remedial training oriented. 'Due regard' training is required every year. The agency provides in-depth training and policy review which exceeds standards and minimum requirements.

The utilization of internal data, court decisions, professional best practices is a constant process within the agency. It has allowed the Conyers PD to have excellent policies supported by great training, supervision, and equipment. The agency has also submitted a suggestion regarding a new standard which requires reports and analyses for agency involved crashes. These reviews of pursuits and crashes also led to changes in the agency's Early Intervention System.

Area of Interest: Critical Incident/Active Attack.

Convers PD has had a policy regarding the response to active attacks since at least 2014. The policy was substantially revised in 2021 and was recently enhanced in January 2023. The 2021 changes were directly due the increased number of national shooting incidents especially involving schools. The agency conducted extensive research of available training, Georgia recommendations, professional best practices and reviews of national incidents.

The agency trained several personnel to be instructors in a national response protocol so the agency could train all personnel including communications personnel. The agency has used the applicable accreditation standards as a foundation but has greatly enhanced its policy, training, and equipment. With six public schools, the county school system main office, and numerous businesses in the community, the need for response capabilities is apparent and has been recognized by the agency.

The agency has been awarded a state grant for additional tools and equipment to enhance its ability to respond to incidents in various types of buildings and facilities. New personnel are trained upon hire and all personnel receive periodic refresher training. The policy is reviewed annually and includes recommendations for policy changes and training. Any recommendations are based on after action reports and information from the most current incidents. A prime example of the agency's constant self-assessment and evaluation is the latest enhancement to policy. Following reviews of the school incident in Uvalde, Texas, the agency removed language that allowed officers to 'contain' an attacker. The new policy clearly indicates that even if the suspect is no longer firing their weapon, but their presence and prior actions interfere with rendering care to the wounded, then the situation is still considered an active event. This is based on the agency philosophy regarding the value of life. Not only are officers charged with stopping attacks, but they are also expected to minimize injury and loss of life.

Another example of the agency utilizing relevant information, is that after action reports and best practice information are shared with all personnel. The agency also participates in and hosts various state and national training courses to enhance its knowledge and that of regional agencies and personnel. By using best practices for training, developing comprehensive policy, providing necessary equipment, conducting period training, and mandatory annual review of the policy and available training, Conyers PD demonstrates that it is in a process of continual evaluation, learning, and enhancement.

Area of Interest: K-9 Program

Convers PD has utilized K-9 for several decades. Their use has always been guided by detailed policy that reflects current laws, relevant court decisions, and best practices. Like other policies, the K-9 policy has been revised numerous times and is currently under revision to include various enhancements and the most recent court decisions. The applicable policy is very comprehensive and provides great detail regarding how the entire K-9 program will be administered and operated. It specifically states that the K-9 handler is ultimately responsible for the proper use and control of their assigned police K-9.

The K-9 program is a prime example of how data, trends, and agency experience are utilized by the agency to enhance operations. The agency was looking to increase its K-9 program and expand beyond the two K-9s which were trained for tracking/apprehension and narcotics detection. The Chief tasked the crime analyst to research and review all calls for service and incidents involving weapons or explosives, including bomb threats and calls to sweep an area as a precaution. This request was based on the perception of a continuing increase in these types of calls for service and having to request the assistance of outside resources.

Based on the analysis which verified a substantial increase of such calls and activities (including where suspects had thrown guns out of vehicles and during flight from crime scenes), it was determined that explosive ordinance detection (EOD) canines would be the most useful for the agency and community. Based on this use of analysis, two K-9s were acquired with each being specifically EOD and tracking type K-9s. Additional handlers were selected based on an established protocol (which requires a research paper and specific review of an agency involved K-9 incident several years ago), and trained according to certification through a national association. The review of prior incidents is intended to inform all new handlers of the incident and to identify any possible learning or enhancement opportunities.

Appropriate equipment was identified and acquired including a certified explosives bunker to house training materials. Detailed protocols were implemented including monthly training requirements and full documentation of all training, calls, uses, and results. One additional enhancement that resulted from the review of prior incidents resulted in a room being made available for all agency personnel to relax for a short time. It is referred to as a 'Calm Room' and allows agency personnel to get out the car or office and relax. This is supported by the agency's focus on mental health and stress reduction.

Another example of information utilization, came when a Georgia agency lost a K-9 due to excessive heat in the vehicle. The Chief ordered all K-9 vehicle alarm systems to be tested under load, instead of just a static test at the start of the shift. This load test will be performed on a regular basis. It is clearly obvious that Conyers PD has embraced the concepts of continuous evaluation, review, analysis, and implementation to constantly enhance its internal operations and service to the citizens.

Area of Interest: Mental Health

Convers PD has been a long time leader in Georgia regarding how to deal with citizens in mental health crisis. They have had a policy since at least 2011 which has been revised several times including twice in 2022. All sworn personnel are required to complete the 40-hour Crisis Intervention Training (CIT) course while communications personnel must complete the 20-hour CIT course, which greatly exceeds most agencies.

The agency recently implemented a co-responder model program to supplement and enhance its CIT program. This 'Police-Mental Health Collaboration (PMHC) Co-Responder Program' is a significant step forward in dealing with persons in crisis. The agency has two Qualified Mental Health Professionals (QMHP) on staff and available on a 24 hour basis. These professionals can respond with officers to relevant calls or can respond alone as they have police radios and call signs.

The PMHC program is designed to provide a full range of behavioral health services to address intellectual developmental disabilities, mental health, and substance abuse disorders with the primary goal to eliminate, reduce, or limit the need for a law enforcement response and intervention in these types of incidents. To assist in future data analysis, the agency created specific calls for service titles and two calls for service dispositions. This is a continuation and enhancement of the manner in which Conyers PD utilizes data, trends, analysis, and best practices to continually enhance its service delivery to the citizens.

The agency also participates in the IACP One Mind Campaign which seeks to build successful interactions with agency personnel and individuals with mental health issues. As an additional de-escalation resource, agency personnel are trained in the 'Integrating Communications, Assessment, and Tactics' (ICAT) methods to successfully defuse a range of critical incidents.

This program was the result of the agency partnering with local community groups, listening to community surveys, and understanding national trends and best practices while examining the data and experience of the agency itself. By all accounts, including comments from citizens, this program is a success. The officers are fully supportive of the program and overall agency efforts relative to this issue.

Another aspect of the agency's focus on mental health deals with ensuring that its own personnel are taken care of. To this end, Conyers PD has taken several actions to positively influence the mental health and overall well-being of its personnel. Already mentioned is the 'Calm Room' that was very recently opened to provide a brief relaxation space for agency personnel. But the agency has also strongly embraced the concept of peer support. It has trained peer support counselors in-house that are supplemented by the QMHP that focus on agency personnel. The agency is also in the process of equipping a fitness facility on the police campus to make it easier and more convenient for personnel to build and maintain physical fitness as part of an overall fitness and wellness focus.

All of the actions taken by Conyers PD as it relates to mental health, peer support, and health and wellness are a direct result of the agency's use of national trends and information, court decisions, professional best practices, and internal research and analysis of its own experiences. The periodic reports, policies, and actions required by accreditation continue to play a role in the continuous development of the agency and its personnel.

Findings:

The Conyers Police Department has established excellent administrative and operational processes that focus on gathering data that is useful for evaluating how it delivers services to the community. This includes evaluation of personnel, equipment, training, policy, programs and efforts to reduce crime and increase the quality of life in a manner that far exceeds minimum expectations. It uses the various CALEA accreditation standards as a foundation upon which it builds additional and enhanced performance standards.

The agency has a comprehensive reporting system that includes incident reports, research proposals, and analytics that are widely distributed throughout the agency. This includes specific incidents, weekly staff meetings, timed reports (quarterly, semi-annual, and multi-year) and reviews of incidents, programs, and processes. The agency seeks out input from all agency personnel including input for proposed changes to policies, training, and equipment. It electronically distributes proposals, including any policy changes and encourages personnel to provide any thoughts, comments, or suggestions they may have regarding the proposed changes. This process has enhanced the final products and has resulted in significantly increased morale within the agency.

There are established processes to ensure that all agency personnel have knowledge and input regarding the wide range of activities that occur within the agency. Frequent crime analysis meetings occur as well as staff meetings where a variety of administrative and operational items are discussed. Even special events such as the 'Red, White and Boom' event held July 3 was heavily discussed. Even though the community event has a fairly consistent format, the Chief, his staff, and Assessor Cunningham conducted a final walk-thru and review of the location, traffic plans, personnel assignments, and emergency procedures to ensure the event would be as safe as possible.

The agency has created a variety of additional methods in which to solicit and capture a wide range of information. All selection processes for either special positions or promotions require applicants to submit a research paper regarding some topic relevant to the agency and the community. This has resulted in numerous enhancements to the agency's operations, administrative processes, equipment, training, programs, and policies. Training is a high priority within the agency and personnel are sent to many training programs locally, regionally, and nationally. They are expected to bring the training and information back to the agency and share it with the staff and agency as a whole.

Convers PD has outstanding processes to gather information about operations including professional practices, court decisions, new laws, and incidents that impact policing locally and nationally. They solicit input from the community thru surveys, comments, and complaints and they have built and continue to nourish close partnerships with many entities in the area. These partnerships include several social service agencies, other law enforcement agencies, the courts, the school systems, hospitals, and private businesses. Personnel also participate in county and city strategic planning processes to assist all agencies in delivering enhanced and coordinated services to the overall community.

Convers PD uses the information it collects to make ongoing changes to every applicable aspect of the agency. It has developed new facilities (calm room and fitness center), new programs (mental health co-responder, EOD K-9, peer support), enhanced training (ICAT, CIT, emergency vehicle operations), added equipment (cameras of all types, drones, tactical, officer safety), and revised numerous policies and protocols. In virtually every area of interest for this site based assessment, significant changes continue to be made in policy, training, and equipment. As briefly mentioned, while the agency reviewed its pursuit policy, it determined that beneficial changes were identified and implemented to its Early Intervention System (EIS/EWS).

It is obvious that the Conyers Police Department has fully embraced the accreditation process and intent. Its required reports (whether accreditation or internally required) are informative, comprehensive, and go beyond statistical data. Recommendations and discussions of the data and relevant issues is required and utilized to continuously improve agency operations and processes.

The Conyers PD is truly a dynamic learning organization that is never content with yesterday's accomplishments. And while this concept is lead by the chief, there is no doubt that the agency and its personnel have embraced this high functioning philosophy and professionalism.

Interviews:

During this site based assessment, numerous persons were interviewed. This included agency personnel, community partners, and citizens. All interviews added value, understanding, and information to this process.

Agency:

Since the site based format is designed to understand how the agency utilizes reports, data, and information in its operations, interviews with agency personnel are key, and served as the primary source of information. Forty One (41) agency personnel were actually interviewed while another thirteen (13) were briefly spoken with during the onsite. Assessor Cunningham attended 2 shift briefings and rode along with an officer to observe how the agency actually functioned. He also observed the communications center handle a reported robbery in progress call. The interviews primarily focused on the areas of interest but also dealt with general perceptions of the agency and its processes. Conversations dealt with other aspects of the agency including accreditation, community relations, agency processes, the 'state' of the agency, and the profession in general. Each and every person within the agency demonstrated great professional knowledge and a very strong level of agency pride. To a person, they all felt the agency was an excellent place to work, cared about the personnel, and encouraged participation and self-development.

Agency personnel gave multiple examples of how the agency solicited input, listened to ideas and suggestions offered, and made them feel as if they were a key part of the agency. When asked what would they like to see the agency provide or change, the only request dealt with how local courts handled officer presence. This was a common concern and was relayed to the Chief for consideration. All personnel were very positive about the agency, its future, and how services were delivered to the community.

Key personnel that were interviewed regarding the areas of interest were very knowledgeable about how the agency used accreditation based reports, meetings, analytics, court decisions, laws, and professional best practices to ensure the agency functioned as desired. They collectively identified the use of information from many sources as one of the primary reasons that changes were made within the agency. They identified numerous changes in policy, programs, training, and equipment that were a direct result of either agency experiences and/or research based information. These interviews verified and clearly established that Conyers PD actively sought out and used various internal reports, external reports and information, and input from a variety of sources to make constant enhancements to how the agency functioned.

Parent/Partner Agencies:

A variety of community leaders were officially interviewed, while a few others were casually spoken with. A total of 5 different organizations were represented in these conversations. Some of the interviews focused directly on at least one area of interest while others involved general agency perceptions, performance, and operations. Each of these activities added value and understanding to how the agency participates with and involves others in their quest to be responsive to the community.

A representative of the Rockdale County Public School System provided a great overview of how the PD and school system work together on a variety of mutual interests. This representative who serves as the Chief Operating Officer of the school system reported excellent relationships with the Chief, command personnel, and all agency personnel. He stated that agency is very open to ideas, suggestions, and having conversations about various issues. He advised that Conyers PD listens, is open-minded, and constantly strives for improvement. He also stated that Conyers PD could be relied on, conducts joint training activities, and is a great team player.

Two community leaders represented different organizations that focused on youth issues. One was focused on substance abuse prevention and developing life skills while the other focused on helping youth overcome current day challenges they faced. Both advised that they shared excellent relationships with Conyers PD. They felt that agency personnel were always willing to help and participate in various activities and events and they found the agency to be proactive and responsive to requests and various community surveys and input. They felt the agency was very open and responsive to working with them, fully considers and any ideas offered. They found the Chief and his staff to be very open and honest. Each found the agency to be very willing to work together, could be relied upon, and were a great partner.

The Executive Director of the Piedmont Rockdale Hospital stated that they had an excellent relationship with Conyers PD. He stated they participate in quarterly meetings wherein a variety of community leaders discuss issues facing the community and the medical/mental health systems. He indicated that the agency was very open to ideas and input, and that the agency considered issues from points of view outside the agency. He also advised that there are open lines of communications and they frequently have frank talks about items of mutual concern.

Another interview was with a long time business owner, resident and member of the Mayor's Diversity Council. He spoke very highly of the Chief and indicated that the Chief was well informed, uses information and trends to implement ideas and solutions, and is excellent in educating and informing the public about issues. He stated the agency listens and responds to the concerns of the Diversity Council, engages very well with the Council and the Community, and interacts very well with the business community. He reports that the agency has made great strides in diversity but in an intelligent and understandable way. He also stated that the officers are polite, caring, and serve with knowledge, compassion, and good intentions. He also advised that agency leadership is focused on the 'right' things.

Community:

Several citizens of Conyers were also spoken with and most of these were ad hoc and not arranged by the agency. These included business persons, regular citizens, residents, and volunteers in the community. A total of nine interactions occurred. The vast number of persons reported positive interactions with the agency and/or its personnel. One knew an officer but never had a direct interaction with the agency officially but reported they had not heard or witnessed anything negative, and felt the agency did a good job Five persons individually advised that they had either directly interacted with or observed agency personnel conducting business. Each had nothing but positive comments including 'professional', 'courteous', 'friendly', 'wonderful', 'outgoing', 'a good agency', and 'provide great service'.

One person managed the Welcome Center and worked with the agency on various events and issues to support the community. She was extremely positive about the Chief and the overall agency. She reported that the agency always considered the viewpoints, concerns, and opinions of citizens and businesses in everything they did. This including planning for and handling community events like the upcoming Red, White, and Boom 4th of July celebration.

Another interview was with two persons together. One was the director of the local Alcoholics Anonymous facility and one was a consumer of services. Both were extremely positive about the agency. The director advised that the agency was very supportive of the organization's efforts, was compassionate, calm, and understanding when dealing with consumers, and represented the best in the profession. The consumer was also very positive about the agency. He described his history of struggles including several arrests. But he felt the officers had treated him fairly and even stated that he believed the officers had saved his life several times. He described them as caring and compassionate.

Assessor Conclusions:

The Conyers Police Department is an outstanding agency regardless of topic. They have fully embraced the concept, standards, philosophy, and intent of accreditation. They utilize accreditation as a foundation to help them continuously review their operations. They do this by heavy usage of the time sensitive reports and activities. The agency is a dynamic learning organization that is never satisfied with the status quo or yesterday's accomplishments. They have numerous processes in place to seek out, solicit, accept, and utilize input from agency personnel as well as community members, businesses, and partner agencies.

The agency makes terrific use of its own experiences, even on an individual case or incident basis. They proactively review trends, internally and nationally to ascertain how they can improve performance. This includes a heavy focus on training as opposed to discipline. They revise policies quite frequently due to what they have learned. This includes internal experiences, national trends, incidents involving other agencies, court decisions, law changes, and the numerous reports they require as part of their own administrative reporting process.

The agency has a wide variety of programs that have been developed based on sound research and informed decision making. They seek out community input which enables them to have better programs and policies and greater community support. The Conyers Georgia Police Department is an outstanding agency that delivers great services to its community.
